A WINDOW OPEN ON THE WORLD

The UNESCO Courier

SEPTEMBER 1962 (15TH YEAR) PRICE : 50 CENTS (U.S.)

DANGER!

OIL-POLLUTED SEAS

From the Dolores Olmedo Phillips Collection, Mexico. Photo © Gisèle Freund.

PANORAMA OF MEXICAN ART

This terra-cotta figure of a warrior holding a lance and shield from Ixtlan, Mexico, was produced by the Pacific Coast Civilization that flourished between 300 and 1250 A.D. It is one item in a rich collection of Mexican art, dating from pre-Columbian times to the present day, which is now being shown in Europe. This travelling exhibition has already visited Belgium, Switzerland, the Federal Republic of Germany, the Netherlands, Austria, the U.S.S.R., Poland, France and Italy where it has been seen by many people. It will shortly be shown in Yugoslavia.